

CHRISTMAS MEMORIES AND TRADITIONS

One Christmas Eve, around midnight, I was awakened by singing, in my bedroom. Dear family friends of ours had made arrangements with our kids to unlock our bedroom door so that 4 very large men with stocking caps could come in and serenade us, which could have been alarming, had they not been singing and all the kids grinning. It was my favorite, “O Holy Night”, in the most perfect harmony, with no music. It was a surreal, beautiful Christmas experience I will never forget.
